THIS 'N THAT

- If you are planning a day of research, Monday is the best day to visit the museum.
- Please remember that we have no way to display family portraits if they are not framed.
- A reminder—as a general rule we do not revise or edit the research of others that is posted on our website. If you have conflicting information, you are welcome to submit your own family biographies to be included either in our files or on our website.
- We are in the process of updating the Schools section of our website. Please keep checking the website for new information.
